“Dad, I knew this day would come one day. I Just never thought it would of been last Sunday. I thought for sure I'd get at least another twenty years out of you. For 35 years your love has been all I've ever known. I don't even know if I know how to live without you being in my life. I always looked up to you and I know you were very proud of me but I think between the two I was more proud to have not only got to know you but to be blessed with such a wonderful person as my father. It's been four days since you passed but it is also four days closer until we meet again. It's not the end of the book but just the chapter for you. We will meet again one day but hopefully not anytime soon. I still have a lot of stuff to do here and the family needs me. I know you walk with me always and I'll never forget you. Thanks for the good times dad. I love you.

“ one of the best memories I have of frank was back this past summer it was hot as anything and he came walking across the yard wearing shorts work boots and a button down shirt (it was a shirt that magnum P.I would wear)

Looked like he was on vacation instead of working

I'll miss our early morning chats in the morning and you running down the 401 with you , as well as our Saturday morning fights over the wash bay.

As well as you and Jen stopping at the shop if I was there to just to say good morning on your Saturday adventures

Rest easy my friend. Until we meet again

“ My memory of uncle Frank was at the farm i was about 10. I built a ramp for my bike hit it a few times then went for the big run. He put a few more bricks under it and boy did I send it I hit the middle of the tree that was in the middle of the yard. Man did he and my dad laugh. You were always the life of the party rest well uncle and give my pops a big hug for me

Condolences to all Frank family and friends. My favorite was a family gathering before the big ass flood, he backed my car up whole lane without hitting anyone, then I handed him bunch of ponchos and tarps, next day found out he was almost swimming in to his place. He will be missed and shall ensure his Grandson Leo Franklin Lukashal never forgets what a great guy he waa. He soaring with eagle on his shoulder with a Sweet new Harley I'm sure RIP Grandpa Frank Gone too soon
